By raising the floor of a closet above that of the room into which the closet opens it will be found that it is much easier to clean and sweep out.

MODERN HOMES BANISH DRAFTS

Follow Example of Public Office Buildings

Drafty rooms are not only uncomfortable but they are also unhealthy. Today's standards of heating and ventilating are set not in our homes but by public buildings such as schools, churches and office buildings.

Such buildings, due to public demand, are insulated and the people who occupy them have become accustomed to temperatures that are maintained at a constant level.

This makes for a feeling of displeasure when one goes into a house or room that is overheated or too chilly and one that is full of drafts.

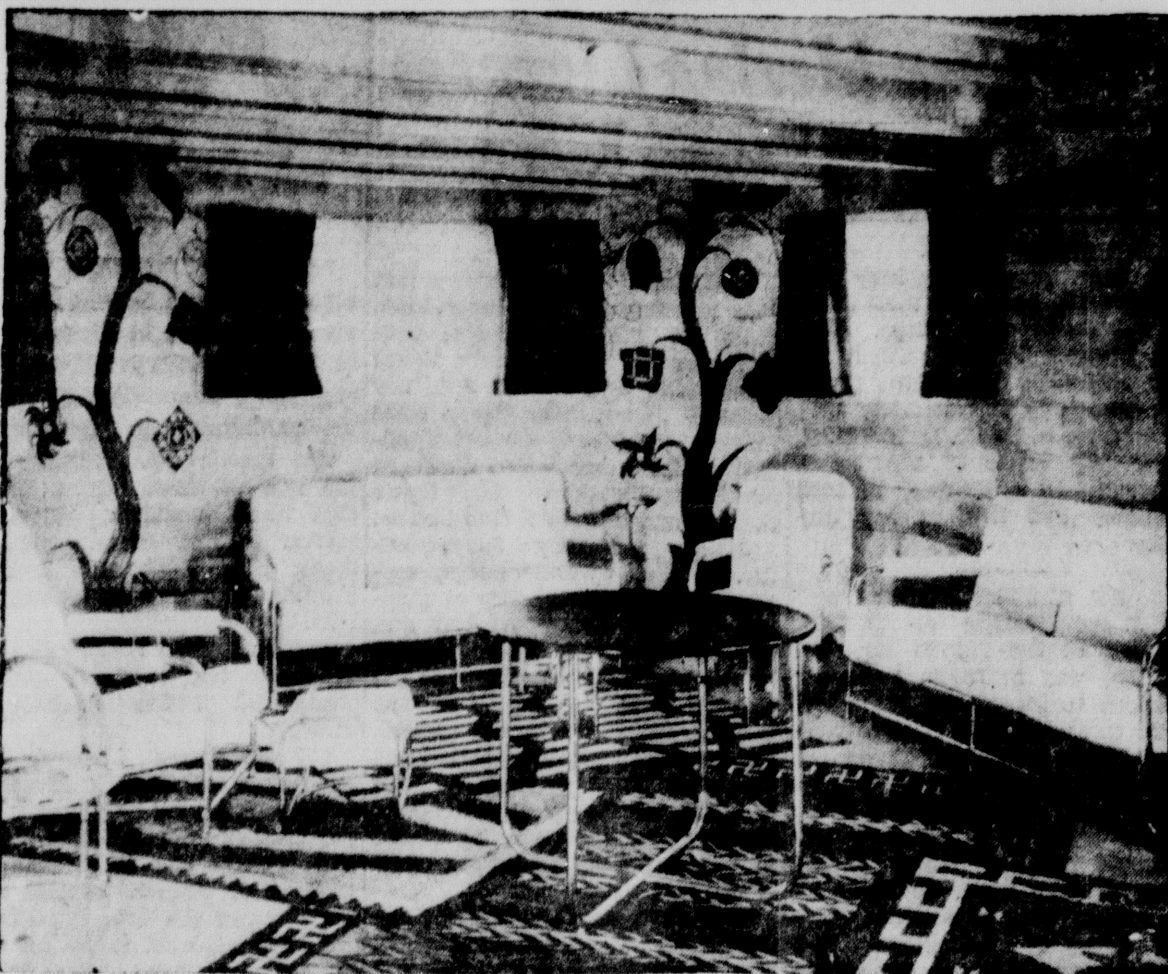

Drafts and chilly rooms may be overcome by use of proper insulating material and modern, up-to-date heating plants that will overcome these conditions.

ELIMINATE FUSE IN NEW WIRING

There has recently come on the market a new device that does away with electrical fuses entirely and provides better protection.

In the old type fuse box if a fuse blows out a new one must be installed. With the new convenience there is a circuit breaker that eliminates the bother of replacing a blown out fuse.

Located conveniently in kitchen or hall all one has to do to restore electric service is to throw a small handle and the electric current is immediately restored.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. NYE

The Story So Far.
"Blur" Ankrom, trying to escape the trouble that dogs his footsteps, rides into Peso Pinto. Immediately he finds himself embroiled in gun-play, rescuing a girl from a band of thugs.

Chapter Two.
Loyalty Comes High.

Ankrom swiftly went to her, took the gag from her mouth. Her lips moved but no words came, only vague croaking sounds. Deep anger stirred within him for the renegades who had tied that filthy rag so tightly, and a wave of darkness crossed his cheeks.

He passed behind the girl—she could not have been more than nineteen, he thought—and inspected the knots that held her fettered. He snuffed the match, let it fall from his fingers. Then he hurried down, working swiftly in the dark. Short seconds later the ropes fell away and she was free. Her voice came then huskily:

"That branding iron! Don't leave it—"

"I'll get it, ma'am," he said, and crossed to where a glow marked its site. He came back to her with it. "You been hurt?"

"I'm all right. Those . . . those men on the floor?"

"They won't bother you any more. Be a good idea if we got out of this. Two of them polecats got away. I reckon there's more where they came from. Can you walk, ma'am?"

"I think so. Will you strike another match, please?"

She aroused his admiration by her poise and serenity. He found himself wondering why she had screamed. That branding iron—

With a rasp a third match in his hand burned blue and yellow against the gloom. Framed in chestnut curls her oval face was before him, leaping from the shadows. Strength lay in her features and a latent storminess. She was standing now and her tailored suit could not conceal the lovely lines of her slender figure.

Her eyes lifted to his own, returned his scrutiny directly. "I'm glad you came. My name is Lee—Lee Trone.

"I was wonderin'. I'm Abe Streeter." He lied evenly. "You're a range man. Stran-ger?"

"Just driftin' through."

"Would you take a job?"

"Ranch work?"

"On a ranch."

"There's a difference?" He asked it softly.

"There may be—it depends."

"What on?"

She shrugged. Her eyes were on his. In them he read something that stirred his blood, that hastened the beat of his pulses against his will.

A Bargain.

She said, "This business here . . . there's a connection somewhere. My father runs the Rafter T Cattle. High-grade beef. It's sprouting wings. . ."

Ankrom started her toward the doorway. Here it was, he was thinking; circumstance and a streak of impulsiveness in his nature were once again shoving him toward a quarrel of which he knew nothing. He sighed and yet his being quickened.

He should ride away before the web of this new trouble enmeshed him. He stopped by the doorway and silently handed Lee Trone the branding iron she had told him not to leave behind. Unconsciously he noted its brand.

"We had better be clearin' out," he said. "Those shots must have been heard."

Keeping to the shadows they moved toward the street, reached it. "This place has a reputation. Unsavory. Shots are common—dead men, too. I don't think you could drag the neighbors near here till the authorities have come and gone. They may be watching though," Lee said.

"How did you get here?"

"I have a car. Have you decided to take that job I offered you? The pay will be $150, payable regularly once a month."

Ankrom's lips pursed in a sound-whistle. "You tryin' to buy a manager?"

"I'm trying to buy loyalty."

"Does it come that high?"

"I haven't found any, yet."

There was no irony in her answer, only wistfulness.

Against his will her words had moved him. "You don't know a thing about me, Miss Trone—"

"Abe, will you take this job?"

Her voice touched him. It brought a strong appeal to that streak of impulsiveness that had ever been his undoing. "Yes," he said. "I'll take it."

He found her hand in his. She said: "You have a horse?"

He nodded. "The buckskin."

"You won't need a lift, then. I'll see you at the ranch tomorrow. The Rafter T, twenty miles due west. You'll find it. We'll be expecting you by supper." With a smile she turned and left him, walking rapidly down the dark street.

He watched her until she stopped and entered a long, rakish touring car. He heard the door slam. Then he turned to the buckskin, his mind a maze of speculation, his vigilance temporarily relaxed.

"Just a moment, friend," a voice beside him said. "I'd like a word with you."

Difference of Opinion.

A rough-looking man with a star on his vest stood at Ankrom's stirrup. There was a cruel twist to this man's mouth, and harsh purpose in his glance.

"You better come along with me."

"Yeah? Who are you? An' where do you think we're goin'?" Ankrom drawled.

The man with the star grinned meaningly. "I'm marshal of this town, buddy. We're goin' to take a look inside that house," he added, pointing toward the house.

"Supposin' I don't want to?"

"I ain't supposin'. You'll go buddy, whether you want to or not. An' don't get tough—I've handled hard guys before. Dyou hear them shots?"

Ankrom nodded.

"See who fired 'em?"

"I saw a fellow go dashin' out of there."

"Who was he?"

"If I could tell you that I'd make my livin' tellin' fortunes," Ankrom grinned.

"Yeah? Well, you may be makin' your livin' bustlin' little ones from big ones, before I get down with you! You packin' a gun?"

"You don't see any, do you?"

"Listen, you—I've had enough of your gab." The marshal flared, cheeks darkening. "You got a gun or ain't you? Talk straight."

There was open mockery in Ankrom's glance.

The marshal's left hand brushed aside his flowery vest, his right went beneath it. Blue wind-swept ice glinted in his eyes.

Ankrom said, "Yeah—I got a gun," and saw the marshal's reaching hand grow still. There was then a cool maliciousness in Ankrom's voice, white teeth gleamed behind his parted lips: "You want to see it?"

"Huh?" The marshal started.

"No, I don't want to see it—not yet. Come along. We're goin' to look inside that 'house an' see what all that shootin' was for."

"No, we're not. You may be, but I got different notions. I'll be savin' 'Adios.'"

FARMERS HOLD RECOVERY KEY BABSON THINKS

Prices Below a Year Ago But Are Above Recent Lows

Denver, July 1.—Good reports constantly reached me this week as I crossed the farm belt. This may be a bad year for the manufacturer, but the farmer is not discouraged. Out through the great farm states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, and Kansas, the depression is still only a "recession." Prices, of course, are below a year ago, but above recent lows. My estimate is that total farm income will not be more than 10 per cent less than 1937, while industrial income may be down 25-40 per cent.

When I first started collecting business statistics 35 years ago, the most important figures were crop forecasts. All other barometers, such as carloadings, retail trade, steel operations, and new financing, were secondary. If crops were good, business was sure to be good. In those days, if farmers had a good crop, they had money to spend. This in turn made business good. Carloadings, retail trade, and other barometers automatically went up.

Old Signposts Ignored
However, many people believe that all that has changed now. Since the depression, there has been a new method of figuring the effect of crops. Many are pessimistic when prospects favor a bumper harvest, while a crop failure is regarded as an optimistic sign. The New Deal "scarcity theory" has unconsciously gone over with some of the younger generation. They recall 1931 and 1932 as good farm years, but the bottom dropped out of business. They also remember that the crop failures of 1934 and 1936 were followed by good Fall business in both years. In addition, they have seen farm prices crumble this Spring as forecasts of big crops were announced. Hence, they look upon good harvests as a sign of poor business.

These cases, however, are all coincidences. In 1934 and 1936, we had huge carry-overs from previous seasons. These surpluses had been keeping prices low. They had to be eliminated. Hence, when we had crop failures in 1934 and 1936, the surpluses not only increased in value but were used up and paved the way for better prices in the following seasons. In the 1931 and 1932 cases, we were in a downward business spiral that had to run its course. At that time, we were suffering from over-production in industry as well as agriculture. The big crops were only a drag on the market. Furthermore, our surpluses back in those gloomy days were not exportable because of foreign trade conditions.

Good Crops Boost Activity
Our carry-overs from last season, while larger than average, are not excessive. Prices are down to world levels and are not particularly profitable. However, big crops mean workers to handle them. They mean wear and tear on farm machinery and trucks. They mean the filling of more space in grain elevators. They mean more freight cars to haul grain and livestock to market. They mean more commissions for grain merchants. They mean more activity in farm marketing centers. In short, they mean better business to all the by-product and service businesses.

Lower prices this year may bring smaller total income for farmers in spite of the bigger harvests. But there will still be a lot of money crossing rural retail counters. Furthermore, lower farm prices mean lower food bills for hard-pressed city families. This releases more of the urban dwellers' income for other purchases. On the other hand, if we were faced with a crop failure, the entire picture would be changed. Fewer farmers would be spending money, more people would be on farm relief, more elevator companies and granger railroads would go into bankruptcy, food prices would be higher for poor city people. A crop failure in 1938 would be disastrous. It would knock all chances for a business pick-up this Fall galley-west.

All Sections Have a Crop
Farm income should be evenly spread throughout the country this year. During each of the last seven years some part of North America has been suffering from drought. The Prairie Provinces of Canada, for instance, will have

Arthur T. Guest, Reporter

BY ARTHUR T. GUEST MANY NEW HOMES

Rochelle—Rochelle continues to lead the way out of the recession. This week three more new homes for Rochelle residents were started, thus bringing the total number of new homes under construction in the city up to ten, since the first model home was started.

The new homes started this week are for Mr. and Mrs. William Bradbury and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cahill on South Third street and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Palmer on South Second street. The other seven homes listed for occupancy soon are those belonging to: Miss Ruth Blackman on North Eighth street, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Helness on North Tenth street, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jacobson on North Ninth street, Mr. and Mrs. John Tilton on Lincoln avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Helness on South Fourth street, Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Rhoades on South Third street, Mr. and Mrs. George Leifheit on North Tenth street.

Real estate men believe that at least a dozen more homes will be started in this city within the next sixty or ninety days. People are beginning to realize that a home, built at present prices and with the liberal 20-year FHA loans is the greatest value offered to the buying public.

A representative of the American Lumberman, a nationally famous magazine, that covers every state in the union, spent last Saturday in this city. He took pictures of the various home sites as well as views of the model home and will feature a story of Rochelle in a forthcoming issue of the magazine. Edward G. Gavin, chief of the editorial staff of the magazine, was most enthusiastic in his praise of the city. In his extensive travels, he said, he had not seen such building activity since the good old days of 1920-23.

FIX UP APPROACHES

Business buildings, apartments and rooming houses with unattractive approaches labor under a heavy handicap in their bid for patronage. In most cases comparatively simple alterations would remedy matters. The increase in custom would speedily repay the loan needed for this renovation.

USE OF FRONT PORCH PASSING

Tendency is Toward Living in Rear of the Home

The past decade has seen a gradual trend in American home building toward the abolition of the front porch.

Utilization of smaller plots of ground, desire for increased privacy, and the general desirability of "living in the back of the house" has been the reason for this trend. In general the living room or sun porch, located either in the back or on the side of the house, has supplanted the front porch.

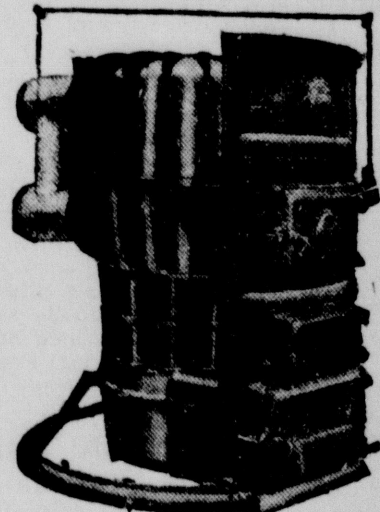

There is nothing new in this practice. European home construction for over a century has followed this same line. Today, the American home is designed to give maximum comfort, privacy, and convenience. Garages are built as an integral part of houses in many cases, located in the front, thus minimizing driveway costs. Kitchens are frequently built in the front also in easy access of the driveway to simplify delivery of groceries, packages, and the like.

Through intelligent placing of the house and by careful landscaping, many interesting results are obtained. A hedgerow or attractive fence can frequently be placed so as to enclose the back yard, and in this secluded space formal gardens, possibly a wading pool or lily pool, flagstone terraces and similar improvements can make the rear of a home a spot of great beauty and charm. It is advisable when planning to build to consult an architect and a landscape architect who have first-hand knowledge of the most recent developments and approved practices in home planning. Their knowledge and experience will more than justify the fee paid for the services.

SIX OF WAN AN 'ARF A DOZEN OF T'OTHER

As a relief from the weighty news of the day you might give a moment or two of thought to the matter of the famous—and puzzling—British accent.

Hollywood has been doing its best to instill a true British accent into the vocabularies of its stars; so have the radio people; and the result, in most cases, has been something fearful and wonderful to hear. And the British, in their turn, have long insisted that American-made films are unfit for empire consumption because of the dreadful American accent which pervades them.

But now it develops that the British themselves are not quite sure what is and is not good, sound English speech.

Milton Bronner, European manager for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, points out that while England is in area slightly smaller than the state of Alabama, its 40,000,000 people have more accents and dialects than the entire continental United States.

Yorkshireman and Lancashireman can understand one another, with an effort; but neither has a speech like that of the native of Somerset. The London Cockney is in a class by himself. And the celebrated Oxford accent deserves a separate volume.

The upper class in London calls a bath a bawth and grass, grahss; but the upper class in Liverpool or Edinburgh will pronounce those words precisely as Americans do.

An observant London clergyman recently remarked that the upper class West End of London is really just as bad as the lower class East End. He cited, as an example, the line frequently sung in church: "Praise Him for His grace and favor."

In the Cockney East End, he said, this line becomes: "Prize Him for His grice and fiver."
And in the cultured West End the line sounds like this:

"Preeze Him for His grease and fever."

All of which, doubtless, adds up to nothing at all. But a harassed American who has to listen to imitation British accents every time he goes to a movie or turns on the radio may properly draw a modicum of comfort from it. He can go on comfortably saying "Noo Yorrk," instead of "N'ew Yohk," secure in the knowledge that at least half of England itself would probably agree with him.

LONG MAY IT WAVE

One of the greatest satisfactions of being a human being instead of an eel or an egg or something—a satisfaction which women have unaccountably been denied—is raising whiskers.

Of course most men only get as far as a four-day stubble—on a camping trip or a stretch in the hospital—and then can't stand the itching and the wisecracks, and call it off. Or they just lie around and dream about the wonderful figure they would cut furnished with an imperial or a square or a spade, and let it go at that. But still, the opportunity is there if a man wants to take the plunge, and that's a great satisfaction in itself.

But more and more men seem to be going the whole hog these days. Not individually and spontaneously, but in groups, and with a purpose. Raising whiskers is becoming accepted as a proper method of celebrating almost any occasion.

The latest celebration is one to knock your eye out. Seventy male citizens of Washington, N. J., have displayed their enthusiasm for the Fourth of July by raising red, white and (with the aid of a touch of blueing here and there) true blue whiskers.

The avowed motive behind this particular spinach spree is patriotism. One of the movement's leaders has confided that the real motive is civic ambition. But a little bird whispers that the REAL motive, behind this and all such beard benders, is simply that old love of raising a beard.

CONGRATS, BUT WATCH OUT

Have you heard about the "Coming-of-Age" parties? In their infancy now, they'll probably become as familiar to the general public as graduation exercises.

The party has been introduced to give formal recognition to the coming-of-age of a voter. The city of Lorain, O., which will throw such a party for 900 new voters this year, held the first a year ago, and other communities throughout the nation have become attracted to the idea since then.

With echoes of the oratorical thunder of graduation speakers still hanging in the air one wonders if the comers-of-age also get heart-to-heart talks at their own exercises.

Do they hear of the wonderful opportunities and treacherous pitfalls that lie before them? Do they learn of the agonies of getting caught in a three-hour precinct rally, the successive feelings of importance and futility before and after elections, the surprises that often await them after their candidate is in? They ought to.

They probably get the idea during the exercises.

Dollar Discloses Secret Marriage

Chicago, July 1.—(AP)—Hart Dollar, 26, grandson of Capt. Robert Dollar, founder of the Dollar steamship lines, disclosed today he was married Monday to Miss Wilma Peterson, 23.

Dollar, who came here from San Francisco last September to work in the steamship company's Chicago offices, said the ceremony was performed in Knox, Ind., by Justice of the Peace Charles Lohse.

The bride is a Chicagoan. Dollar is the son of the late Melville Dollar, who was Canadian representative of the Dollar lines.

Marine Setting is Used for Party at Beier Residence

A marine scene was an enlivening feature of the table arranged Thursday evening by Mrs. George Beier at "Beiercliff," when she arranged a stag dinner party in honor of Mr. Beier's birthday anniversary. Amusing favors were drawn from the pockets of a miniature sailor in the center of the table, and tiny ships and sailor hats marked the covers.

Games were suggested for the evening's pastime, following dinner. George Beier's cousin of Mrs. Beier, and Carl Wentzel, both of Morrison, were the only out of town guests.

HONOR NEW MEMBERS OF BETHEL CHURCH

New members of Bethel church were honored Thursday evening when approximately 135 members and friends met at the church for an informal reception. Richard Weyant presided during the following program:

Hymn: prayer, Philip Allman; music, mixed quartet; welcome, Louis Zigler; reading, Cleora Woodworth; instrumental number, Philip Allman and Franklin Forman; welcome from the Sunday school, Mrs. John Nelson; welcome from the Women's Missionary society, Mrs. Carl Hess; welcome from the League, William Foster; solo, Robert Fulmer; hymn and doxology.

The Rev. Mr. Gordon expressed appreciation for the cooperation of his congregation in church activities, and for his new home. Later in the evening, the pastor invited the group to the parsonage where Mr. and Mrs. Gordon received at an informal open house. The parsonage was recently purchased from O. M. McClure, and has been redecorated.

In honor of the occasion, the Loyd Workers Sunday school class presented the Gordons with a bedspread and rug to match, and the Truth Seekers class brought an electric clock for the kitchen. Refreshments were served by the Gordons in the church basement.

Three-Hundred Guests Attend Ortgiesen-Gale Wedding, Today

Nearly 300 guests from California, Wisconsin, New York, and Illinois witnessed the wedding of Miss Margaret Nine Ortgiesen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ortgiesen of Nelson, and John Gale son of Mrs. Bessie M. Gale of Nelson, solemnized at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the First Christian church. The Rev. James A. Barnett heard the vows.

Palms, garden flowers and candlelight formed the background for the bridal party. Miss Goldie Gigous was at the organ for the nuptial music, which included vocal solos, "I Love You Truly" by Mrs. Ray Krieger of Sterling, and "O Promise Me" by Mrs. Robert Duncan of Buffalo, N. Y.

The bride, who entered with her father, chose white slipper satin for her wedding gown, designed with long, fitted sleeves, a lace-trimmed neckline, and a train. Her long, double veil of tulle was caught in a Juliet cap of braided felt, with a wreath of orange blossoms at the back, and her shower bouquet was of sweetpeas, roses, and lilies of the valley.

Preceding the bride to the altar were Miss Dorothy Stitzel, maid of honor, and four bridesmaids, the Misses Mary Jane Gardner of River Forest and Vivian Gardner of Montebello, Calif., cousins of the bride, Betty Gale of Nelson, who is the bridegroom's sister, and Myrtle Bartholomew of Nelson. Bolero frocks of pastel organdy were worn by the attendants, blue, yellow, orchid, pink, and green being the colors chosen, and each carried an arm bouquet of sweetpeas and roses. Miss Virginia Gardner of Oak Park, little five-year-old cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a Colonial frock of peach-colored organdy, and carrying a basket from which she scattered rose petals along the aisle. Herbert Gardner of River Forest, also a five-year-old cousin of the bride, carried the ring on a white satin pillow. He was attired in white serge. Merwin Gale of Moline, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Afterward, Mr. Gale and his bride left on a ten-day motor trip through Wisconsin, and upon their return, will be at home in Nelson.

Miss Clara Gwendolen Bardwell Becomes Bride of Joseph Taber Johnson II; 100 Guests Come from Four States to Attend

Candlelight and Regal lilies screened the fireplace mantel at the home of Mrs. Henry Utley Bardwell, 612 East Second street, this afternoon, when her only daughter, Miss Clara Gwendolen Bardwell, exchanged nuptial vows with Joseph Taber Johnson II of Rockford, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Johnson of Pleasantville, N. Y., in a simple wedding ceremony at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Arthur Turley Stephenson of Evanston, former pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Dixon, read the single ring ceremony in the presence of 100 relatives and close friends from New York, Wisconsin, Colorado and Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Westcott, violinists, played favorite selections of the bridal pair in a half-hour prelude as the guests were assembling. Mrs. Dwight Chapman was at the piano.

The bride walked with her only brother, William Utley Bardwell of Barrington, who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of white marquisette, with puff sleeves, and a very full skirt edged with lace. Clusters of orange blossoms holding her tulle veil in place were those worn by her grandmother, the former Miss Clara Utley, when she became the bride of Abalino C. Bardwell here in 1871, and extending above the orange blossoms in tiara effect was lace worn by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Utley. A taffeta sash of delphinium blue, the bride's favorite shade, was the only color accent of her wedding attire, and she chose Regal lilies and delphinium tied with blue satin ribbon for an arm bouquet.

Miss Martha Jean Stephenson of Evanston, daughter of the officiating minister, was maid of honor. She was wearing a pink marquisette redingote over pink taffeta, with a picture hat of pink hair-braid. Deep rose-colored poppies, former her bouquet, tied with pink satin.

Two little nieces of the bride, Mary Gwen and Ann Bardwell of Barrington, four and eight, were flower girls. Their Kate Greenaway frocks were made of organdy. Mary Gwen wearing orchid, and her sister, yellow. Each carried a basket of mixed garden buds. Bascom Johnson of Pleasantville, N. Y., was his son's best man. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bardwell chose sapphire blue lace over blue taffeta, and Mrs. Johnson wore deep blue chiffon. Each wore a corsage of pink rosebuds combined with candytuft and white swainsonia.

A reception followed the ceremony. Spun sugar flowers decorated the individual wedding cakes.

Later in the afternoon, the bride changed to a frock of blue and white flowered chiffon with navy accessories for a short weekend wedding trip. After July 4, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home at 512 North Main street, Rockford.

A group of boys prepared to set out from a camp on a canoe cruise one time. The group split up into cruises to go in different directions. Among other supplies an ample stock of large chocolate bars, 233 to be exact, was purchased to be used for quick energy at the noon meal each day and also at intervals during each day. Due to difference in the sizes of the three cruises different allotments of the chocolate bars were made. Cruise No. 1 took twenty more than cruise No. 2, fifty-three more than cruise No. 3 and seventy-one more than cruise No. 4. How many chocolate bars did each cruise take?

SENATE TURNS TO PROBLEM OF JERSEY MAYOR

Demands Of Investigation Of Hague Regime Loud

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—The Senate civil liberties committee, informed persons said today, will turn its attention to mayor Frank Hague and complaints against Jersey City policies before Congress meets again.

Chairman La Follette (Frog-Wis) has parried questions about this subject for weeks. He has replied to them by saying the special committee must first wind up its inquiries in the field of labor relations and by mentioning limited funds.

The committee recently received an additional $60,000 from the Senate, however, and expects to complete the labor relations inquiry within the month.

Committee investigators said they had a "thick file of requests" for an investigation of the Hague regime in New Jersey.

Among these requests are those from Reps. O'Connell (D-Mont) and Bernard (Ft-Mich), House members who failed to keep a widely publicized speaking engagement in Jersey City, and Norman Thomas, socialist leader.

Labor leaders have contended that Hague has abrogated rights of free speech and assembly in combating what he termed C.I.O. "reds" and communists in Jersey City.

President Roosevelt in his broadcast address last week made references to denials of civil liberties which generally were accepted as aimed at Hague, although Mr. Roosevelt called no names.

La Follette will return to the capital in mid-July to direct public hearings dealing with employers' associations in connection with the steel strike last year in the Ohio "little steel area."

Committee investigators said these hearings should be completed in about two weeks.

FOXX MAKING RUN RECORDS IN NATIONAL

Endangers Mark Of Hack Wilson Set In 1930

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless the American league's pitching talent can do something soon about Jimmy (The Hammer) Foxx, the prized run-batted-in record the National league has been guarding so jealously since Hack Wilson's heyday is going to be wiped out.

Wilson's mark has been in the books since 1930. That year, he drove 190 tallies across the plate, and it takes some pretty fair country clouting to come anywhere near their figure. Consider, for instance, that Babe Ruth never made it, and Lou Gehrig, who holds the American league standard, never got over 184.

But along comes Jimmy the Hammer to travel at a clip so far this season that indicates he'll pass the 200 mark if he can keep it up.

Slowed Up Awhile

Foxx has slowed up for a while in the last couple of weeks, and it looked like he might not keep up the pace. But since the Red Sox have returned east, he's back in there fence busting and well on the way to the record. Yesterday he added five more to his total for the year, hitting a homer and a double to help Lefty Grove down the Athletics, 12-7.

Those five gave him a total of 88 for the 63 games the Red Sox have played this season. That's an average of about 1.4 per game, which if carried out to the end of the campaign, would come to around 215 for the year. Wilson's average-per-game was about 1.2.

Despite Jimmy's help the Red Sox victory didn't put them any nearer the New York Yankees, in second place in the American league. The Yanks called on their No. 1 runs batted in producer, belting Bill Dickey, and Sweet William obliged with two homers, one with two on and the other with the bases loaded, to lead the way to an 8-0 victory over the Washington Senators, the sixth Yankee triumph in a row. Spud Chandler took care of the pitching, with a six-hitter, for his seventh victory against one defeat for the year.

Since the league leading Cleveland Indians were idle, the Yanks thus climbed to 2½ games from the pace. The Indians and White Sox were rained out, Detroit and the St. Louis Browns weren't scheduled.

Clouted Homer

Over in the National league, the Giants' newest member, Bob Seeds, late of Newark, clouted a homer with two mates on base to give the National league leaders a 3-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. This victory increased the Giants' lead to 4½ games.

Clay Bryant pitched a six-hitter and the Chicago Cubs trampled the Cincinnati Reds, 11-4, in a night game.

The Phillies' pitchers, Claude Passeau and Lefty Lamasater, celebrated their "declaration of independence" at being released from the telephone booth proportions of Baker bowl, tossed a pair of five hitters and trounced the Boston Bees twice, 4-1, and 5-0. The Phils announced that henceforth, beginning Monday, they would play their home games in the Athletics' Shibe park, and would give up Baker bowl, whose short outfield barriers have long been famous as the boundaries for a "pitchers' graveyard."

Yesterday's Stars

Bob Seeds, Giants—His homer with two aboard beat Dodgers, 3-1.
Bill Dickey, Yankees—Hit two homers, driving in seven runs, in 8-0 win over Senators.
Claude Passeau and Lefty Lamasater, Phillies—Each pitched five-hitter in doubleheader victory over Bees; Lamasater drove in three runs with two hits, and hurled 5-0 shut-out.

Jimmy Foxx, Red Sox—Hit homer and double, driving in five runs, in 12-7 win over Athletics.
Clay Bryant, Cubs—Held Reds to six hits and drove in two runs in 11-4 victory.

Cummings' Team In Good Condition To Contest Paw Paw

The Dixon Knacks tangle with Paw Paw's youthful nine at 2:30 P. M. tomorrow with the probability that Ole Prestegaard will not be on the mound.

Manager Bert Cummings' nine aside from Prestegaard's illness is in good condition for the game. Either Harold Prestegaard or Francis Henry will assume the twirling assignment for the afternoon. Paw Paw will bring some of its old time baseball stars here for the game and fans may witness a feature before the contest when A. S. Wells and James Southard will form a battery and pitch a few balls as they did years ago.

Wells is also coach of the Paw Paw team at third base this year.

WOMEN'S TITLE IN GOLF GIVEN MISS DUDLEY

She Holds New Links Record Also For Champaign Club

Champaign, Ill., July 2.—(AP)—Eleanor Dudley, 20-year-old Chicagoan whose two-under-par 77 established a course record Tuesday in the opening round of the Illinois women's golf tournament, had the championship as well today.

The Ridge Country club golfer and a sophomore at the University of Alabama won the title yesterday by defeating another Chicagoan, Miss Elianæ Williams of the Medinah club, one up on the 18th green.

A 25-foot putt that rimmed the cup failed to drop for a birdie four eased Miss Williams' chance to tie the match. She had reduced her opponent's margin to one up on the 17th when Miss Dudley missed a match-winning putt from a foot and a half.

Also Runner-up

In trouble on six of the second nine holes, Miss Williams, who also was runner-up in 1935, made several remarkable recoveries to equal the par round of 39 hung up by her rival, but she never could overcome the one-up lead Miss Dudley gained on the first nine. Miss Dudley also was forced to call upon ace recovery shots and from a cluster of bushes near the 16th green, she hit a ball left-handed and with a putter to halve the hole in par figures.

Miss Dudley advanced to the finals by defeating Dorothy Foster of Springfield, the 1934 champion, 2 and 1, in the morning 18-hole semi-finals. Miss Williams was forced 19 holes to eliminate Virginia Lindblad of Crete, the medalist.

A nephew of Gen. Francisco Franco, insurgent leader in Spain, Joe Franco, is making his bid for fame on the golf courses. Shown teeing off in the Western Open in St. Louis, Joe, a student at Northwestern University, is the son of Anthony Franco, brother of the war lord, whom he has not seen in 20 years. The American Francos reside in Winnetka, Ill.

HELEN MOODY'S COMEBACK WAS HUGE SUCCESS

Wins Wimbledon Net Eighth Time, Beats Helen Jacobs

Wimbledon, Eng., July 2.—(AP)—In another dramatic episode of their long tennis rivalry, Helen Wins Moody trounced Helen Jacobs, 6-4, 6-0, to win the Wimbledon singles crown for the eighth time today but Miss Jacobs, apparently handicapped by an ankle injury, offered no resistance worthy of the name in the final set.

After the two bitter California rivals had fought through 10 fiercely-contested games in the opening set before Mrs. Moody could win, the second set was a walkaway after Mrs. Moody won the first two games.

Miss Jacobs appeared to be having trouble with her right ankle. She stopped running entirely and covered almost no court at all. So one-sided was the battle that Miss Jacobs won only three points in the final set.

It was reminiscent of their dramatic match in the American finals of 1933 when Mrs. Moody was handicapped by a back injury. In that instance, however, Mrs. Moody defaulted in the third set when trailing 3-0.

Strained Tendon
Dr. J. J. Dunning said Miss Jacobs had strained the Achilles tendon of her right leg yesterday and that he had bandaged it just before today's match.

Immediately after Miss Jacobs had gamely taken her beating and limped off the court, Dr. Dunning was called to attend her.

"She was in great pain," Dr. Dunning said.

There appeared to be no doubt whatever that the injury had been solely responsible for her collapse in the second set.

Before the set started she had gone to back court and rubbed her ankle vigorously. At no time, however, did she give any indication that she wanted to concede the match as Mrs. Moody had done in their memorable match at Forest Hills.

At the end of the match, witnessed by another capacity crowd, Mrs. Moody spoke briefly over the radio while Miss Jacobs sat heavily on her racket. When Mrs. Moody had finished, Miss Jacobs hobbled over to shake hands.

It was noteworthy that neither then, nor at any other time during the match, did the California rivals speak to one another.

"I am very sorry about Helen's ankle," Mrs. Moody said later, "but I thought there was nothing I could do but get it over as quickly as possible."

Mrs. George W. Wightman of Boston, captain of America's Wightman Cup team, saw both California girls after the match and said:

"It's a shame but everybody seems to be blaming Mrs. Moody for finishing Miss Jacobs off so quickly. I think this is unfair. It was the only thing to do under the circumstances."

Miss Jacobs herself said Mrs. Moody had done the right thing in getting the match over as quickly as possible.

"I think Helen did the right thing," she said. "She hit shots that I couldn't possibly get and I agree the only wise thing to do was to get it over as soon as possible."

"When the match was over, Helen said 'too bad.' That's all she said but please don't rub that in."

"I am more sorry about this than anything in my life. I did want to make a match of it and I felt until my ankle snapped that I had a good chance."

Harvard Gridmen Selected For All-Star-Pro Contest

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Vernon Struck of Centralia, Ill., and Joseph P. Nease of Boston, senior members of the 1937 Harvard football team, today were selected by Coach Andy Kerr to play for the eastern college all-stars against the professional New York Giants in the fresh air fund game sponsored by the New York Herald-Tribune September 7 at the Polo Grounds.

Struck, fullback and key man in the Big Three champions' attack, and Nease, a running guard, are the first Harvard men to be picked for the team in the three years the game has been staged by the Tribune. With Al Wojciechowski, Fordham center, they are the first players to be chosen for the 1938 squad.

PANTHERS PLAY ROCHELLE TEAM OVER HOLIDAY

Won't Count In Illinois Loop Standings For Rochelle

The Dixon Panthers, who have not lost a game since they have been at full strength in the field, will play Rochelle here at 2:30 p. m. Monday, July 4.

The result of the Rochelle game will indicate just how the two rival Dixon teams compare with each other. The Knacks were victors 3 to 0 in their game with Rochelle and the Panthers hope to dent the plate several times during the battle. The contest will not be an Illinois State league game for Rochelle as the Panthers are an independent club.

Manager Zalecki has not as yet scheduled a game with the Knacks but will gladly accommodate them on one of their open dates. A large crowd is expected to witness the holiday battle. The battery for the Panthers will be Kupper and Wolford. The Panthers were rained out last Sunday at Lee Center. Reynolds, the Panther speedy centerfielder who has not played since the Nelson game because of a wrist injury, will be in the lineup and add strength to the Panther batting attack as well as strengthen the team on the field.

A week from Sunday the Panthers will play a return game at Sterling.

Northwestern And Chicago Sharing Tennis Laurels

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—Northwestern and University of Chicago entries shared title honors today in the fourth intercollegiate district tennis tournament which qualified 12 singles players and six doubles teams for the national event opening Monday at the Merion Cricket club in Pennsylvania.

Marv Wachman, Northwestern ace, went five sets yesterday to vanquish Chester Murphy, Maroon player, for the singles crown. Chester and Brother Bill then defeated John Shostrom and Art Jorgensen in an all Chicago doubles final.

World production of motor vehicles in the last year registered a new record high with a total of 6,352,000 passenger cars, trucks and busses. This exceeded 1937 production by slightly more than one per cent.

200 TRACK ACES AWAIT CHANCES TO SHOW WARES

50th Anniversary Of U. S. Track, Field Championships

Buffalo, N. Y., July 2.—(AP)—Two hundred aspirants for national senior A. A. U. titles—the Kentucky Derby of American track—cooled their heels today while the youngsters—shooting for junior titles—showed their wares.

The cream of the nation's track and field stars, half a thousand strong, broke in a new track in a new stadium today for the start of the two-day, 50th anniversary program of the American track and field championships.

The gold-plated attractions for fans are scheduled tomorrow when the senior champs renew old feuds, blast out records and topple crowns. Glen Cunningham and Archie San Romani, who have been stepping on each other's heels in the 1,500-meter event in meets throughout the country, arrived in a drizzle of rain to spike reports they were getting on each other's nerves.

Tomorrow Archie will go out to beat Cunningham, present titleholder. San Romani isn't the only man the champ will have to beat. There's Louis Zamperini of U. S. C. Charles Fensie of Wisconsin, Josef Mostert of Belgium and some eight others.

Some 15 other titlists are prepared to defend their crowns. Among them, Perrin Walker of College Park, Ga., hopes to retain his 100-meter dash title. Allan Tolmich of Wayne University, Detroit, has large fields to beat to hold the 110-meter and 200-meter hurdles crowns.

YATES EXEMPT FROM TRIALS OF AMATEUR MEET

New York, July 2.—(AP)—By virtue of his victory in the British amateur championship, Charley Yates of Atlanta will be exempt from sectional qualifying trials for the 1938 U. S. amateur golf championship.

The United States Golf association made that announcement today in listing the 33 points at which sectional eliminations will be held. The number of districts is one higher than the previous record, set in 1936.

Included are:
Illinois: Kildeer C. C., Prairie View (Chicago).
Indiana: Meridian Hill C. C., (Indianapolis).

In addition to Yates, all former champions, including defending titleholder Johnny Goodman of Omaha, automatically are eligible for the championship proper, to be played September 12-17 at the Oakmont Country club near Pittsburgh. There will be approximately 170 players in the starting field.

The first of the 36-hole sectional trials will be held at Honolulu on Saturday, August 6. At all other points, including Louisville and Memphis, which appear on the list for the first time, the date is Tuesday, August 30.

LOMBARDI AND AVERILL STILL LEAD BATTERS

New York, July 2.—(AP)—With the halfway mark of the major league season coming up, those old Ohioans, Earl Averill of Snodish, Wash., and the Cleveland Indians, and Ernie Lombardi of Oakland, Calif., and the Cincinnati Reds, continue to head their respective batting parades by comfortable margins.

Blood Transfusion For Injured Youth
 Attleboro, Mass., July 1.—(AP)—Doctors ordered blood transfusions today for Donald Axon, 16, who shot himself in the chest in a fall from a tree while hunting crows and then in an effort to summon help with his rifle, fired a second bullet into his right eye, destroying the sight.
 Axon told doctors at Sturdy Memorial hospital he lay on the ground for several hours yesterday after the first shot.
 Recovering consciousness, he started to crawl to a road, he said, but his strength failed and he reloaded the rifle and pulled the trigger to bring a companion.
 He related he vaguely remembered the gun went off again, and then he lapsed into unconsciousness.
 Not until a friend stumbled across him and brought him to the hospital did he learn the sight of one eye had been destroyed.

Pennsylvania's 44-Hour Week Law Unconstitutional
 Philadelphia, June 30.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's new law limiting male workers to a maximum work week of 44 hours was declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.
 The court affirmed the decision of the Dauphin county (Harrisburg) court which some months ago held invalid the act, passed by the 1937 legislature, and granted a permanent injunction staying its enforcement.
 The law never went into effect. As soon as the act was signed by Governor George H. Earle, who said 44 hours was "long enough for any one to work," more than 700 firms joined in attacking it.

PENAL COLONY ABOLISHED IN FRENCH GUIANA

Long History Of Woe, Horror On Devil's Island To End

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

New York, July 1.—Those of us who are sufficiently Edgar Allan Poeish to like to have our flesh made to creep are going to be deprived of a lot of shudders now that the French government has decreed abolition of the notorious French Guiana prison colony, which includes Devil's Island.

One can approach the subject in this vein, because actually the days of physical torture are things of the distant past. They most certainly did exist at one time, and the once all too truthful appellation of Devil's Island has come to be a generic term for the world's harshest places of punishment.

Probably no other penal settlement in history has produced so many tales of horror and human suffering as have come out of French Guiana.

However, all this happened prior to 1925 when the laws for the administration of the penal colony were changed radically for the better. It was my privilege a couple of years ago to be the first newspaperman ever accorded free access to all the secrets of Devil's Island and the rest of the settlement. I came away with the impression that the prisoners are well treated now, but I had no doubt that before 1925 they suffered untold misery.

Chain Gangs

There were chain gangs. Prisoners were ironed to their plank beds at night, and their pillows were blocks of wood. There was terrible corporal punishment.

While the present-day administration is, broadly speaking, humane, not all is honey and flowers and there are enough bad spots to warrant elimination of the colony. For one thing it is the worst sort of cruelty to condemn a white man to prison in the steaming tropical hell-hole which is the Guiana mainland.

So far as the much publicized Devil's Island is concerned, this and its two small sister islets which snuggle like birds in a nest some 10 miles off the coast, are probably as close to a tropical paradise as can be found in that part of the world. Sea breezes constantly sweep them and they are so healthful and safe that they are called Les Iles du Salut—a striking contrast to the low-lying fever-infested shores of the stinking mainland.

Devil's Island is a striking contrast to the other two. It is the black sheep of the family—handsome and fascinating but having a Satanic face. It is a solid rock. There is little soil and plant life is comparatively sparse.

HIS RED LETTER DAY!

Chicago, July 2.—"A bang-up Fourth without a bang-up!"

That appeal to the nation was issued today by the National Safety Council in its campaign to reduce the huge annual toll of accidents over the Fourth of July holiday.

Emphasizing the fact that the annual July accident toll is greater than in any other month of the year and that a large part of this toll is due to the Independence Day holiday, the Council asked every citizen to use greater care in driving, swimming, boating and other holiday activities, and not to use explosives or fireworks.

The Council suggested six general rules to avert holiday tragedy:

1. Start early on your holiday trip. Give yourself plenty of time to get there and back by driving moderately. Sixty-one per cent of fatal traffic accidents occur after dark.

2. Watch out for sunburn! It creeps up on you and can be dangerous. A little of it at a time is the best way.

3. Use common sense in the water. Wait an hour after eating. Be sure of the depth. Know that a lifeguard is handy.

4. Don't use fireworks!

5. Don't drive if you drink
